Andrew Eales studied at Birmingham University and the Royal College of Music, London. He is now a piano teacher based in Milton Keynes, UK.

Andrew has this to say about Fresh Air: 'This is a very gentle tune, which I wrote in my head while walking in the local park with my dog, Bella, one lovely spring morning. The chords I've used mostly lack their bass note, giving a sense of weightlessness, as if floating in calm blue skies. You will need to be careful to develop the legato melody using the weaker fingers, while holding down those semibreve/whole-note chords.'
