

Minuetto

KIRNBERGER

[♩ = c.116]

1 2 3 3 2

5 1 2 1 4 tr 1 3 2

9 2 5 4 5

13 5 3 1 3 2 tr 5 2

f

p cresc.

Johann Philipp Kirnberger (1721–83) studied with J. S. Bach in Leipzig from 1739 to 1741, entered the service of Princess Anna Amalia of Prussia in 1758, and later became one of the most important music theorists of his day. He advocated the study of keyboard dances to help students to develop a good sense of time and rhythm. 'Minuetto' is Italian for minuet, a dance in moderate triple time that originated in 17th-century France but later became popular throughout Europe. In this Minuetto, all slurs and dynamics are editorial suggestions only. Crotchets might be lightly detached.