

A Song of Erin

No. 8 from First Year Pieces

DUNHILL

Andante con moto [♩ = c.120]

p dolce

mf

poco rit.

p

The English composer Thomas Dunhill (1877–1946) studied composition with Stanford at the Royal College of Music, where he himself later taught. He wrote a large quantity of music for educational purposes. 'Erin' in the title of this piece is a poetic name for Ireland, and the music has something of the character of Irish traditional music.