

Never Vex a Tyrannosaurus Rex!

PAUL DRAYTON

Roaring dangerously [$\text{♩} = \text{c.88}$]

The musical score is written for piano in 6/8 time, with a key signature of two sharps (F# and C#). The tempo is marked 'Roaring dangerously' with a metronome indication of approximately 88 beats per minute. The score is divided into five systems, each containing a treble and bass staff. The piece begins with a piano (p) dynamic, followed by mezzo-piano (mp) and mezzo-forte (mf) sections. The dynamics increase to forte (f) and fortissimo (ff) towards the end. The score includes various articulations such as accents, slurs, and phrasing slurs. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1 through 5. The piece concludes with a double bar line and a final chord marked '8va'.

This piece is drawn from the collection Prehistoric Piano Time by Pauline Hall and Paul Drayton (b. 1944), in which it is accompanied by the following cautionary note: 'Tyrannosaurus Rex is quite alright if left alone, but if teased it can be terrifying.'
