

ROTARY (or Rolling) ATTACK

81

In the following examples, the groups in semiquavers should be rolled rather than fingered. Keep the fingers close to the keys and roll the groups inward and upward, tossing off sharply on the last note. This gives a "sparkle" not obtainable with the usual finger legato.

Preparatory Exercise

The Preparatory Exercise consists of two staves. The right hand plays a series of semiquaver groups, each marked with a 'Roll' and finger numbers (1, 2, 3, 4, 5). The left hand plays a similar pattern, also marked with 'Roll' and finger numbers. The exercise is in 2/4 time and ends with a double bar line.

March of the Gnomes

Allegretto

The March of the Gnomes is a piece in 2/4 time, marked Allegretto. It features multiple systems of semiquaver groups, each marked with a 'Roll'. The dynamics vary throughout the piece, including mf (mezzo-forte), ff (fortissimo), pp (pianissimo), and f (forte). The piece is written for piano and includes fingerings for the semiquaver groups. The notation is spread across four systems, with the final system ending with a double bar line.
