

In Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute" there is a funny man (Papageno) whose flute music makes everyone want to dance. Even burly, fierce soldiers, who come to catch Papageno, can't touch him because they are all tired out from dancing.

Mozart, the composer, was the boy-wonder who traveled all over Europe before he was seven, entertaining royal families with his violin and piano playing.

9. MAGIC FLUTE

Mozart (adapted)

The musical score is a piano arrangement of a piece from Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute". It is titled "9. MAGIC FLUTE" and is by "Mozart (adapted)". The tempo is marked "Allegretto". The score is in 4/4 time and is written for piano. It consists of four systems, each with four measures. The melody is in the right hand (L.H.) and the bass line is in the left hand (L.H.). The melody is composed of eighth and sixteenth notes, often grouped in triplets. The left hand provides a simple harmonic accompaniment with quarter and eighth notes. Dynamics include mf (mezzo-forte), p (piano), and mf (mezzo-forte). The score is divided into four systems, each with four measures. The first system starts with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat. The second system continues the melody. The third system continues the melody. The fourth system concludes the piece with a double bar line.
