

HOW ARE YOU PRACTICING?

Can you play five of your pieces without a mistake? Here is a story: A pupil came to Leschetizsky (a great piano teacher) and said "Maestro, I practice and practice, yet I never play perfectly!" Then Leschetizsky took ten buttons from a little box. "Here," he said, "place a button on the piano each time that you play one page perfectly. If you make one mistake, you must put all the buttons back in the box and start over. Then you will learn to play carefully."

That was advice for a concert pianist, but you can get your own large buttons and play each line of music five times perfectly each day. Remember, only perfect practice makes perfect playing.
